

Summary

The Tribal Management Professional (TMP) certification is a comprehensive, three-day program designed to enhance participants' managerial skills and capabilities in a culturally sensitive and contextually relevant manner. Modules include Talent Acquisition; Behavioral Interviewing; Performance Evaluation; Employee Engagement; and Leadership Development. This is an interactive program providing resources in support of successful leadership in tribal government and enterprise settings. The target audience is seasoned leaders entry-level supervisors and all in between. Human Resources and Training Professionals for train-the-trainer support.

Certification is obtained through in-person participation with attendance verified each of the three days. A 50-question exam is taken on the 3rd day of the session with a required pass rate of 65%. Certification is maintained by taking a minimum of 24 hours of NNAHRA-approved educational programs every two years.

If you are interested in introducing TMP to your tribe, we encourage you to reach out to Tal Moore, Foundation Director.
